<<Cam 1>>
Hello everyone. I'm Michael Voris.
If you're like most Catholics you have an idea that a change in Church practice must mean the Pope's on board with it, right?

Well, it SHOULD. Emphasis on SHOULD.
But if it DOESN'T, how do you know? The Roman Pontiff is six THOUSAND miles away from us here in America.

<<Cam 2>>
Communion on the tongue is a tradition with roots growing deep into the Church's rich liturgical soil.

This liturgical custom was suddenly uprooted in the 1970s in it's place the practice of revising holy communion in the hand began AGAIN. The abuse had been nixed over a thousand years ago by Church authorities, notably at the synod of Rouen in 650 AD among other places.

The practice of Communion-in-the-hand sprang up suddenly after Vatican Two in Belgium and Holland... contrary to Church law which did not allow it.

Once Communion in the hand became a common practice, people stopped receiving on the tongue resulting in the loss of faith within the Real Presence.

Benedict XVI said regarding distribution of the Sacred Bread of Life.

Take a look for yourself.
<<SOT>>

<<Cam 2>>
Pope Benedict started distributing Christ's Body exclusively in this manner, directly on the tongue, since 2009 on the Feast of Corpus Christi.

<<Cam 1>>
You may be familiar with Cardinal Burke, Prefect of the Supreme Tribunal of the Apostolic Signatura, Basically the Chief Justice of the Church's Supreme Court...well take a look at what he had to say about the Pope giving Holy Communion ONLY to those kneeling and on the tongue.
<<SOT>>

<<Cam 2>>
Cardinal Burke knows this was not a mere chance event as he just stated. Quote, “The Holy Father is giving a very clear lesson by his own insistence that the faithful receive kneeling and on the tongue. He's teaching us something. This is a decision which he obviously made with much thought and for good reasons.”
<<SOT>>

<<Cam 1>>
Here too is EWTN news speaking in depth about the same papal event.
<<SOT>>

Did you catch that news flash? Quote: “The Pope's Master of Ceremonies Monsignor Guido Marini announced a new Vatican protocol for receiving Communion in L'Osservatore Romano this week. From now on to receive Communion from Pope Benedict at Papal liturgies one will have to kneel and receive on the tongue.”

<<Cam 1>>
In 2013 Pope Francis chose to keep Monsignor Marini as Master of Pontifical Liturgical Celebrations, because of Marini's traditional formation.

Tune in next week as we continue revealing the unmistakable Papal preference for Communion on the Tongue.

God love you. I'm Michael Voris
